

New superior CHI Residences Serviced Apartments Brand Extends to Wanchai

Family accommodation, swimming pool and rooftop gardens highlight second CHI complex on Hong Kong island

(Hong Kong, May 03, 2010) – As savvy travellers increasingly seek convenient and stylish accommodation, CHI Residences has announced further expansion plans with a second new luxury property on Hong Kong island destined to take serviced apartments to new levels of luxury and style.

Conveniently located in Wanchai's bustling nightlife and business district, Johnston Road, CHI Residences new complex will feature a swimming pool and landscaped gardens further complementing the stylish and contemporary design of 45 new apartments scheduled to open in early 2013.

The Development consists of 13 studios, 25 one-bedroom, three 2-bedroom, and four top floor 2-bedroom duplex apartments, 2 of which have private access to roof gardens, ideal for families or groups. Each apartment features "beamless" high ceiling environments, with floor to ceiling windows and a highly individual "iconic" façade system that incorporates private projecting balconies, that adds to the overall appeal of the building's exterior.

This new CHI Residences complex also presents a superior urban residential choice for people who have high expectations for a serviced residence offering both luxury and convenience.

"The group is expanding rapidly to meet continuing, exceptional demand for high quality serviced apartment accommodation in Hong Kong," stated CHI Residences owner and operator, Pilar Morais,

"As a booming business, entertainment and nightlife district which is also especially convenient to Admiralty and Central, Wanchai is a natural extension to our brand."

Designed by architects KplusK associates, the talented duo of Johnny and Paul Kember responsible for numerous luxurious residential and serviced apartment designs across Hong Kong and the Asia Pacific region, CHI Residences at 130 -136 Johnston Road,

Wanchai, is their first new build tower project in Hong Kong and exemplifies their attention to detail and stylish contemporary urban designs.

The 25-storey CHI complex is also located a short comfortable stroll or tram ride from the central business districts of Admiralty and Central, across the street from the MTR station and just a few minutes by taxi from both the Airport Express to Hong Kong International Airport and Sheung Wan ferry connections to Macau and China.

CHI Residences opened its flagship luxury service apartment complex on Hong Kong island in 2008 at 120 Connaught Road West.

In the past two years the group has also launched three serviced apartment complexes in Kowloon – at 393 and 279 Shanghai Street in West Kowloon, and an art deco-inspired residence at 314 Nathan Road, Jordan.

CHI Residences prides itself on using exceptional materials and unique fittings to create individually designed spaces offering comfort, style and convenience. The cosy and intimate setting transforms the apartment into your home away from home for whether you are alone or with family. This is married to a commitment to create sustainable architecture, employing materials from renewable sources, and using energy saving LED light sources.

About CHI

The visionaries behind the new CHI Residences are father and daughter duo, Philip and Pilar Morais. Mr. Morais was the founding partner of the highly successful Shama concept of serviced apartments who now shares his years of expertise in this sector with his daughter.

CHI Residences launched in 2007 to provide a variety of urban residential choices to savvy travelers seeking convenience and luxury, and their own personal space.

The first CHI Residences opened its doors in 2008 at 393 Shanghai Street in the up and coming West Kowloon area. The flagship at 120 Connaught Road West on Hong Kong Island opened in August later that year. A third CHI Residences opened at 279 Shanghai Street in December and 2009 saw the opening of their fourth property, 314 Nathan Road.

- End -

Distributed on behalf of CHI Residences by Grebstad Hicks Communications

For more information, please contact:

Rosetta Hon / Candy Ng

Email: rosetta.hon@ghcasia.com / candy.ng@ghcasia.com

Tel: 2810 0532